

Rep. Matt Dubnik
District 29

Biography

A conservative Republican born in Gainesville, Georgia, Matt Dubnik attended Lakeview Academy and received his B.S. in management with a minor in information technology from Georgia Institute of Technology. After working as an information security specialist for Siemens Energy and Automation, Dubnik transitioned his career to nonprofit fundraising, serving as a regional director for Ducks Unlimited, where he was responsible for leading volunteers statewide in their efforts to raise millions of dollars annually for wetland conservation. In 2009, he joined an internet marketing agency based in Gainesville, where he became a partner and the vice president of internet marketing. Currently, he serves as the chief engagement officer of Forum Communications, a full service strategic marketing agency focused on helping businesses, nonprofits and startups find their voice in a crowded marketplace.

Dubnik is a small business owner, father, husband, son and a community leader. He serves on multiple nonprofit boards, is a deacon at his church and serves in numerous local and state volunteer leadership positions with Ducks Unlimited.

Dubnik is a member of First Baptist Church Gainesville and resides in Gainesville with his wife, Katie, their two sons, James and Davis, and the families chocolate lab, Burton.
