

Rep. Dewayne Hill
District 43

Biography

Representative Dewayne Hill represents the citizens of House District 3, which includes the northern most part of Catoosa County.

Dewayne was born and raised in Catoosa County, Georgia, and graduated from Ringgold High School. He attended Dalton State College, where he earned his certification in metallurgy and welding. He also attended Chattanooga State Tech, where he studied mechanical engineering and ultra-sonic testing.

Dewayne previously served as the Catoosa County commissioner, during which time he achieved the status of advanced certified county commissioner through the Association of County Commissioners and the University of Georgia. Throughout his tenure, Hill advocated on behalf of Catoosa County and worked with the Georgia General Assembly to pass legislation that lowered taxes for disabled and senior residents of Catoosa County. As a result of his service, Hill has been honored by many awards including the Census Appreciation award, the Work Ready Community award and most recently the In Appreciation of Your Service to the Citizens award.

In addition to his public service, Hill is an active member of Ringgold Rods and Relics and Habitat for Humanity. He has served on the board of the Catoosa County Health Department, Catoosa's Citizen and Veterans' Memorial foundation and on the Catoosa County Chamber of Commerce.

Dewayne and his wife, Wyondia, are the proud parents of six children, ten grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The Hills attend Pleasant Valley Baptist Church.
